Lab #9 (5 pt)

In today's lab, you should use the outline you prepared to semantically section and markup your webpages. Do not forget to include site navigation.

In your first iteration (which you should save a copy of) only include headings, no content such as paragraphs – this will help you resolve any outline issues.

After your markup outlines correctly, you may proceed to add actual content and show it to the instructor. Make sure that your pages pass HTML validation.

Now use CSS to layout your pages according to your wireframe. Use a single CSS file for all pages, unless you can justify a separate file for a specific page (which you must do before starting).
