

Lab 3

Goals

- use good coding style
- more practice declaring functions
- use the setprecision manipulator to ensure your floating-point output looks good and reflects appropriate precision.
- use constant
- use if . (alternatives: use max function)

The coding is straightforward (compared to previous labs) — the focus is on good design and good commenting (not too much, though!)